Notes on approved professional development activities

It is the applicant's responsibility to maintain and submit adequate records of participation in approved professional development activities, including receipts, diary entries, certificates or other records of attendance. The following activities are acceptable in meeting the professional development requirements for award of a diploma:

1. Attendance at professional (as opposed to social) sessions of conventions and conferences organised by REIA and affiliated state or territory Real Estate Institutes, or presented by other organisations with Institute endorsement.
2. Participation in courses, lectures, seminars and workshops presented by Real Estate Institutes, or under their auspices.
3. Attendances at discussion groups operating under Real Estate Institute sponsorship, where the prime purpose is the exchange of professional information.
4. Involvement in professional development activities within the applicants firm, when such activities are provided by individuals or organisations outside of that firm.
5. Participation in courses supplied by universities, provided that the course extends the applicant's professional ability, rather than satisfying statutory requirements for the practice.
6. Time spent in researching and presenting real estate material, whether in the form of publications (for example, in a professional journal or textbook), lectures, courses or seminars, provided that repeat presentation is not claimed.
7. Appropriate programmed self-study packages or courses, providing that the hours claimed for this activity must not exceed 50 per cent of the required professional development activity hours in any one year.
